BRAND IDENTITY GUIDELINES

The image features a silhouette of a person standing on the left, holding a long spear horizontally. The person is facing right, looking out over a vast landscape. The background is a dramatic sky with soft, golden light from a low sun, creating a hazy, orange-brown glow. In the bottom right corner, there are several white, concentric, wavy lines that resemble topographical contour lines or ripples in water. The overall mood is contemplative and respectful.

We acknowledge the Wadandi people as the traditional owners of this region, and pay respect to their enduring connections to Boodja
(Country) through songs, stories, spirituality and Cultural lore.

MARGARET RIVER REGION

ON WADANDI BOODJA

Tens of millions of years ago, long before humans walked the earth, something happened in this remote corner of the planet.

The continents of Australia, India and Antarctica were joined at one point in the supercontinent of Pangea. As Pangea divided, a piece of Australia was ripped away by the dividing continents of India and Antarctica. A geological island-within-an- island was formed, surrounded by three seas; connected to the rest of Australia by a land bridge.

This land was spared the ravages of ice during the ice ages and desertification during drier periods. This land became a refuge for an exceptional abundance of plants and animals to survive, thrive and evolve. Life here flourished.

For over 50,000 years this land has supported one of the world's longest, unbroken human occupations, resulting in an immensely deep cultural knowledge and connection to the land. It is the traditional land of the Wadandi Aboriginal people; the Saltwater People.

The Wadandi have lived here through the last ice age. They have adapted and survived through tens of thousands of years through an intrinsic knowledge of how to care for, and benefit from, the abundance of this island refugium.

This land has changed in many ways during this long history. Yet, today, it remains a place of immense significance and of rich biodiversity. People come to share in the culture and environment of this land, and to gain from an appreciation and understanding of nature and life at its best.

This place is known today as the Margaret River Region, on Wadandi Boodja (Wadandi Country).

OVERVIEW

AESTHETIC

In the same way that nature connects as all, we have a number of distinctive design elements to help our brand positioning come to life. The aesthetic celebrates the beauty and abundance of nature through carefully selected imagery, combined with design assets that give an effortless flow to all our communications and collateral. Space is a premium too. It gives a brand confidence and sophistication; our region has an abundance of nature, but we don't want our brand design to be cluttered. So we use space wisely, to give copy and headlines and images and logo lock-ups the space to breathe. Speaking of lock-ups, they are a crucial part of this identity as they use a typeface that has the feel of the ebb and Flow of the tide; the wind coming from one direction and then the other; the push and pull, the breathe in and breathe out; a font that feels like it truly belongs to this place.

The Margaret River Region. Let's use it to show Australians and the world just how generous this place can be.

An aerial photograph of a vast, teal-colored ocean. The water's surface is marked by numerous thin, white, wavy contour lines that curve across the frame. Several small figures of people on surfboards are scattered across the water, appearing to ride the waves. The overall scene is serene and captures a wide expanse of the sea.

WORDMARK

MASTER BRANDMARK

This is the official Masterbrand for the Margaret River Region. The arrangement of type forms the Masterbrand. This Masterbrand is representative of the region and it is the image that is seen in the marketplace, therefore reproduction quality is of the utmost importance.

These brand guidelines contain information for the correct usage and reproduction of the Margaret River Region brand identity. Compliance with these guidelines is essential to ensure that a uniform visual image is achieved and maintained.

PLEASE NOTE

The brandmark is never to be redrawn nor should the letter forms or letter-spacing be altered in any way. It must only be reproduced by electronic means.

MARGARET RIVER REGION

ON WADANDI BOODJA

REPRODUCTION

The brandmark is available in different formats to maximise legibility, with a strong contrast between the brandmark and the background.

POSITIVE

Generally the brandmark appears on a light background (preferably white), in which case it should appear in full colour within the colour palette.

ALTERNATE

When the brandmark appears on a darker background, an alternate colour option (white or Pantone 466) is to be used.

MONO/ONE COLOUR

The mono version of the logo should only be used when printing is restricted to just one colour. The brandmark may be produced in black.

COLOUR REVERSE

If the brandmark needs to be placed on a dark or black background under B&W printing conditions, the brandmark should appear in white. Please ensure the brandmark is clearly legible.

CLEAR SPACE

The distance between the brandmark and other objects and text is known as the 'clear space'. This space is represented by M. At all times the length of M should be kept free from typography, photography, illustrations and any other graphic devices. M is determined by the height and width of the "M" in MARGARET.

SIZE REPRODUCTION

The brandmark must always appear legibly on a clear background. To protect the clarity and visual integrity of the brandmark, a series of rules have been determined.

For consistency, a general brandmark size has been provided. This is the size that the brandmark should appear on all A4 publications, stationery, advertising and documents. Ideally

The minimum size that the brandmark should be used is 20mm tall. This is represented in the figure below.

When the logotype is required at sizes larger than 2000mm tall, please contact the Margaret River Region team for guidance..

INCORRECT USAGE

On this page are a number of common mistakes when implementing the brandmark. Protecting the Margaret River Region brandmark means always ensuring that it is represented consistently and accurately, in accordance with this style guide.

Note: Electronic versions are available, so the brandmark should never be redrawn or recreated digitally.

---

Do not redraw the brandmark. Only use supplied files to ensure that consistency is maintained.

---

Do not stretch or warp the wordmark.

---

---

Do not alter the proportions or size relationships within the wordmark.

---

Do not use colours other than those outlined in this guide.

---

Do not outline, fill, texture or distort the wordmark.

ALTERNATE BRANDMARK

An alternate brandmark exists for times when height is limited. This 'horizontal' wordmark should be used selectively and is best suited for use on landscape applications or in instances where photography is the main feature (a magazine cover for example). This will place the focus on the imagery, while ensuring that the Margaret River Region logo is still present.

SUB-REGION WORDMARKS

MARGARET

DUNSBOROUGH

BUSSELTON

AUGUSTA

SUB-REGION WORDMARKS

A wordmark has been crafted to represent each of the four sub-regions. These regional wordmarks should be treated with the same care and respect as the Margaret River Region wordmark, applying the same rules around reproduction, format, sizing and clear space. These wordmarks should never be re-drawn or recreated. All formats of the wordmarks are available as part of the master asset library.

Fonts

FONTS

To achieve consistency across all applications of the Margaret River Region brand, the preferred font family to be used is LOTO. This font should be used for all body copy, pullouts and sub-headings. Headings and mastheads should be set in Brodaers Expanded or Bodoni Book. These fonts have more personality, are bolder and more expressive, injecting character into layouts.

On occasions when fonts cannot be embedded (email signatures, word documents and PowerPoint templates) or if web/digital fonts are required, please use the font Calibri Regular for headings and Calibri Regular for body copy.

COLOUR

COLOUR

First and foremost the colour palettes for the region and its sub-regions are inspired by the region itself and the towns. Not always in a literal way, but more trying to capture the essence and 'feel' of each town, whilst simultaneously laddering-up to a cohesive masterbrand palette for the region as a whole.

As we know, nature is all about balance. So in the colour palettes we balance the more premium, sophisticated, lush, deep, native and rich tones you find in the natural world, with more soft, elegant, light, feminine and coastal tones. This keeps the brand premium, but at the same time it softens the edges so the brand is still comfortable, approachable and relaxed.

A WORLD OF COLOUR

A palette of colours has been developed that reflects the generous colours that are found in the Maragaret River Region. These have been classified into dark and light swatches. The diversity in the colours and variation in their depth should allow for plenty of flexibility. At all times, contrast should be maintained so that all elements of a design are clear and legible.

In the background, there are patio umbrellas, wooden tables, and a tree. The scene is bright and sunny.

GRAPHIC DEVICES

GRAPHIC DEVICES

Alongside the core design elements of typography, colour and logo lock-ups, we have also included in this guide a few design devices than can be used where appropriate. This is a new brand guideline and fresh to most people eyes, so it will develop over time and become a more refined suite of assets as collateral and campaigns get rolled out. These devices aren't essential or mandatory, but they give a guide of what can be possible when working with the Margaret River Region brand.

The ‘flow’ pattern is a background, framing and design device that references the land, the sea and the sky. The casual lines, break the hard edges of images and guide the viewer’s eye.

HEADER & FOOTER

Cuts of the flow patterns can be used to create a header and footer element for a page. The page content then sits within these elements.

FRAMING

Using the patterns as full-bleed backgrounds can add a strong brand presence to layouts, publications and social media content.

GUIDING

Placing cuts of the flow patterns on the left and right extremities of a page can be used to guide a reader's eye through a layout.

The Margaret River Region illustration style is loose and casual, capturing imagery in as few lines as possible with expressive strokes and minimal detail. These freehand elements are used to add interest to a layout.

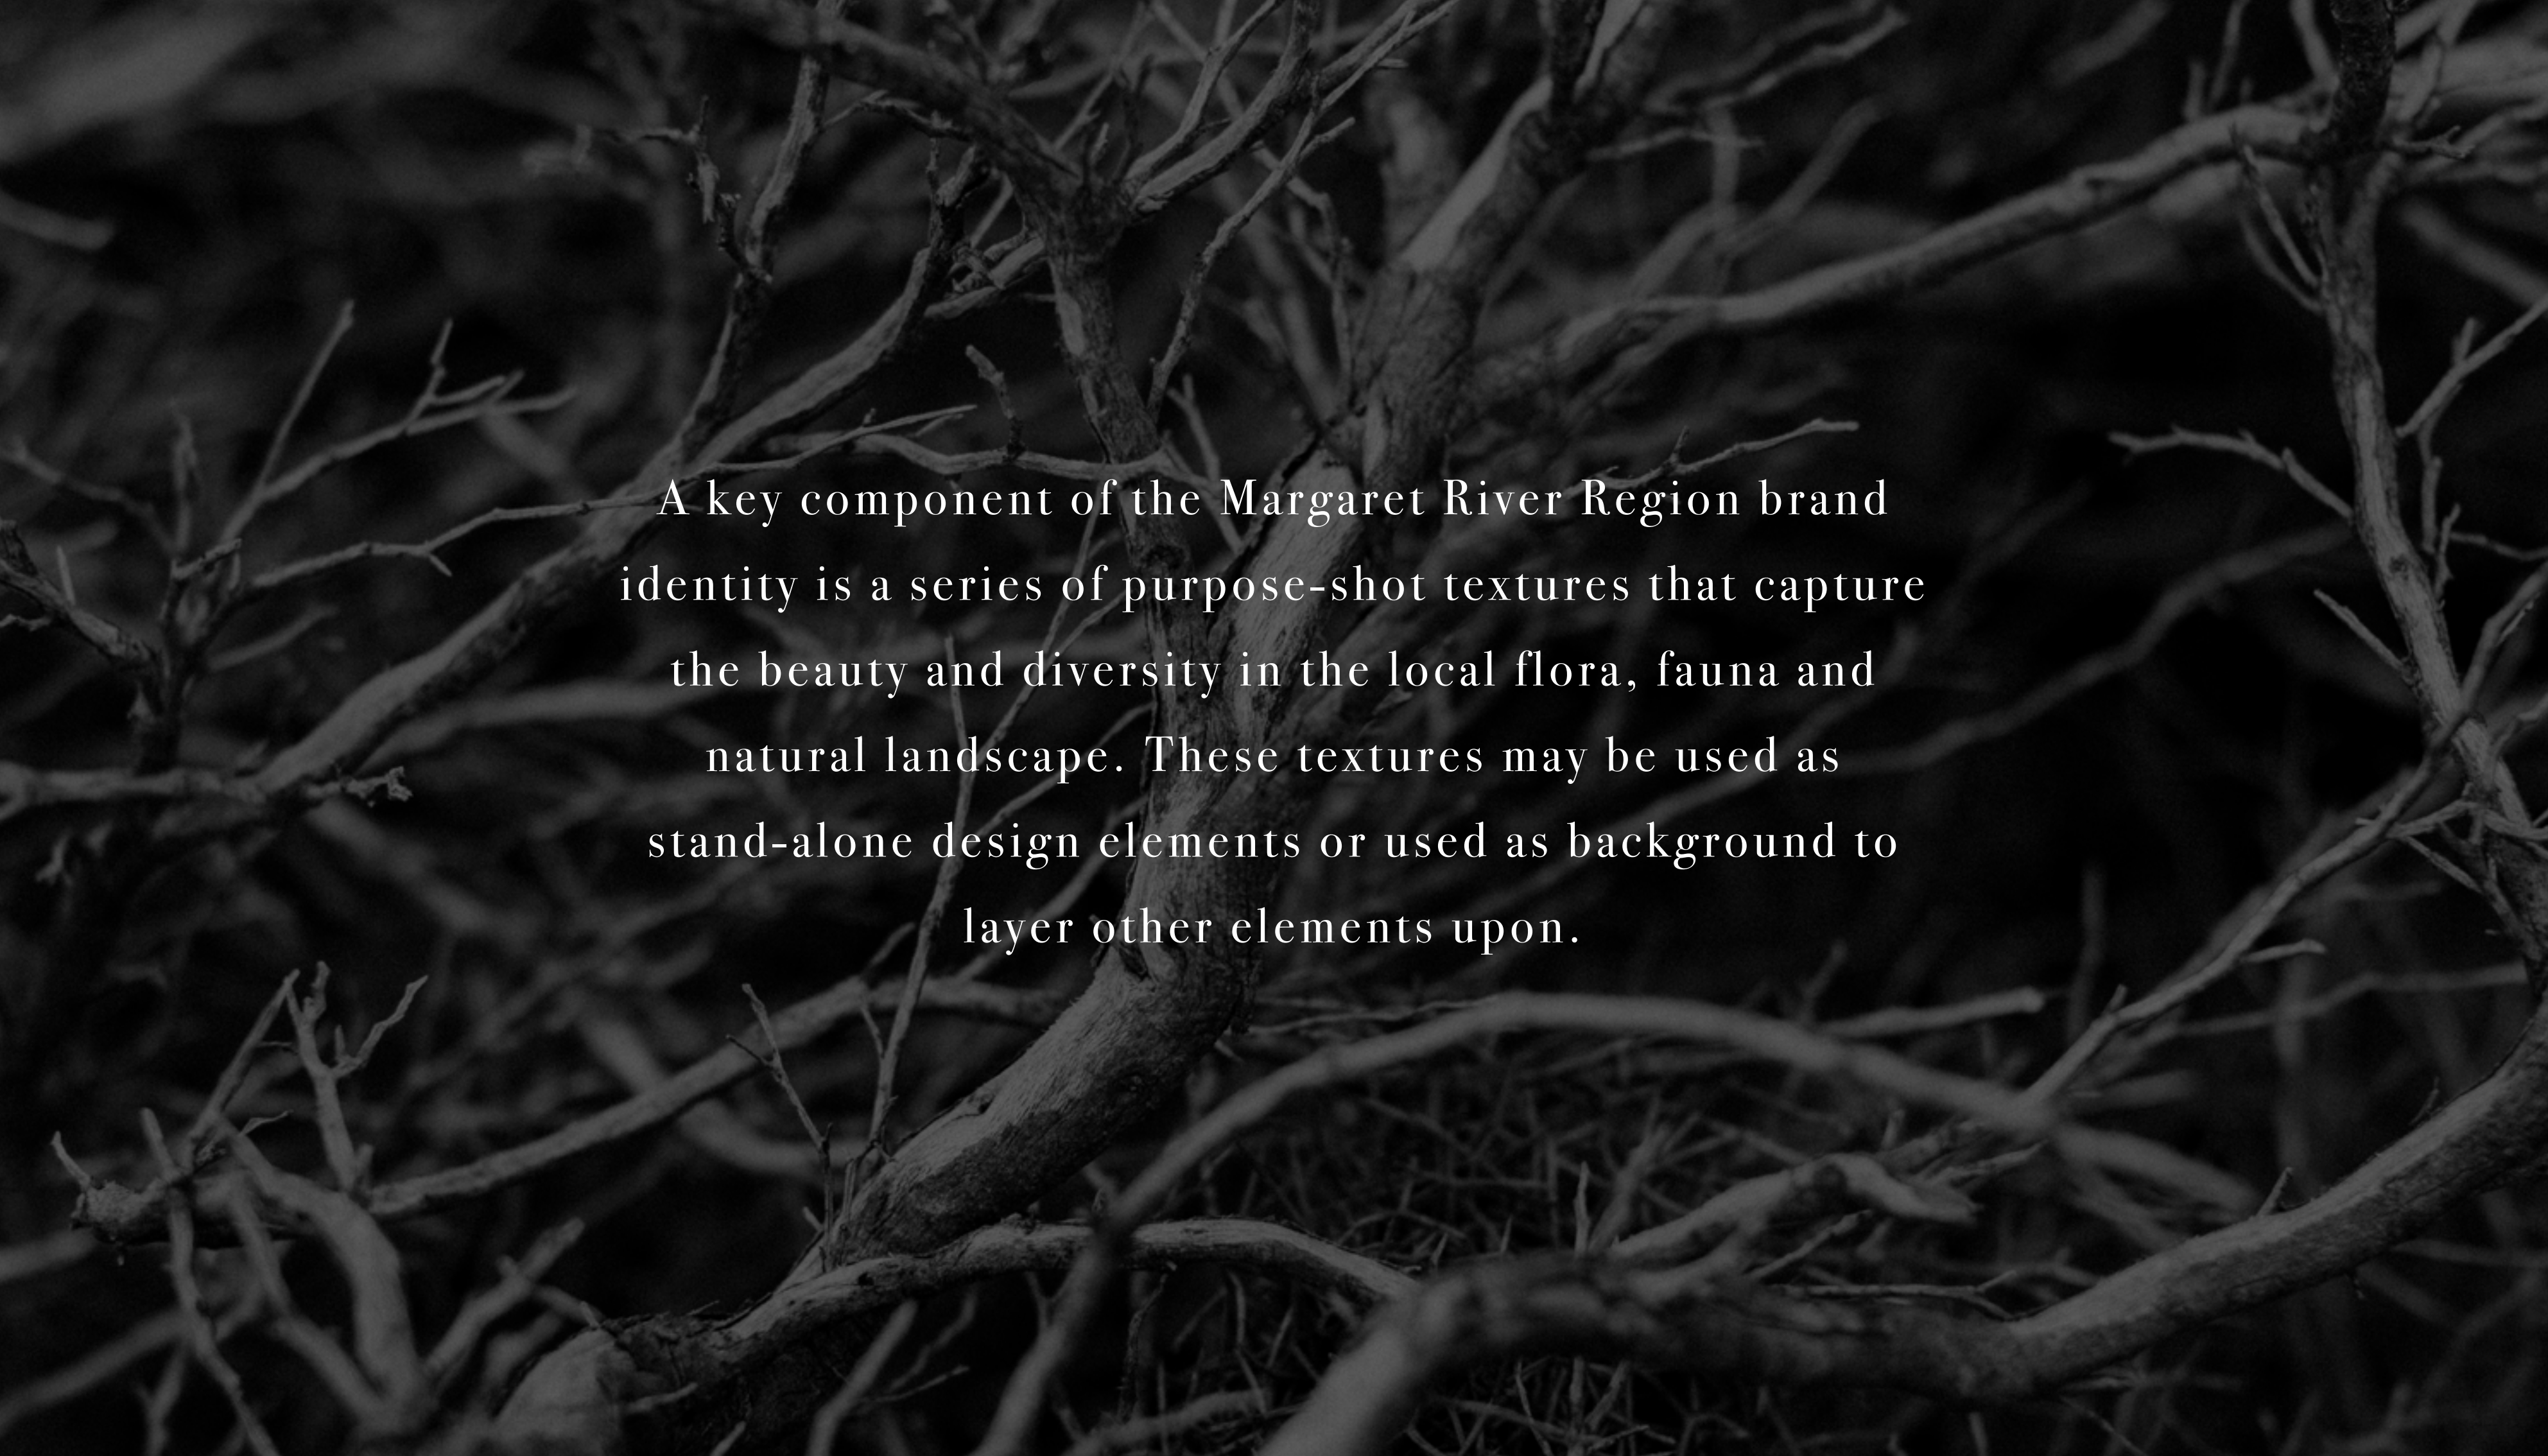

A series of bespoke icons have been drawn that complement the typographic styling used in the Margaret River Region logotype and regional logotypes. These icons bring personality to a functional piece of the brand toolkit that is often generic and lacking style.

A key component of the Margaret River Region brand identity is a series of purpose-shot textures that capture the beauty and diversity in the local flora, fauna and natural landscape. These textures may be used as stand-alone design elements or used as background to layer other elements upon.

The Margaret River Region brand style is defined by building up layers of photography, texture, pattern and illustration creating depth and abundance which brings to life the ‘Generous Nature’ narrative.
